U.N. to Upgrade the Love for Israel Relief Fund

by R. David Weisskopf, chairman

Over the past few months our delegates have been working hard on a petition with the United Nations (U.N.) to upgrade the status of the Love for Israel Relief Fund beginning in 2014. After several hearings and committee meetings, the U.N. notified us that they recommend upgrading the Love for Israel Relief Fund to “special consultative status” which is the highest status for a non-government organization working in a specific country.

The upgrade is scheduled to be finalized in July when the Economic and Social Council will hold their annual meeting. At their upcoming annual council meeting in July they will make the final decision on the U.N.'s current recommendation to grant the highest possible upgrade to the Love for Israel Relief Fund.

This new status will entitle the Love for Israel Relief Fund to an annual pass to the U.N. in New York and Geneva. We will be entitled to give written statements, speeches, organize side events during conferences and lobby on behalf of needy Israeli children.

Even more importantly, the upgrade will empower the Love for Israel Relief Fund to advocate for Israeli children on the international stage as we have been doing domestically in the Knesset since 2006. It is so important for needy children to have strong pro-family voices with both our national leaders and on the international stage.

From 2006 to 2010 we identified the youth crisis and break-up of the Israeli family based on data from our Knesset allies. In 2011 we began raising public awareness about the root causes of Israel's youth crisis. We have been offering strategies to rescue the traditional family while reducing the heavy financial burden on taxpayers and donors by 90%. The result in 2014 is Israel's mainstream media is starting to pay attention and now the United Nations recommends upgrading our status.

Pro-family voices that defend the traditional family are so important for Israeli children both domestically and internationally. It is with great thanks to your ongoing prayers and support that we can achieve this together. On behalf of the Israeli children you support, thank you for your love of Israel!

Our Holiest work is advocating on behalf of at-risk Israeli children. This not only saves lives, it also saves over 90% on taxes and donations. A growing number of our national leaders from across the social and political spectrum are responding positively to our exhortations on behalf of these little treasures from Heaven. Your support empowers us to give a voice to children who cannot speak out for themselves.

Special events, like weddings and bar mitzvahs, happen year round for hundreds of at-risk kids and needy young adults in Israel. Donations designated “special events” will be set aside for such use.
